EXAMINER'S AMENDMENT

1. The following are the Examiner's amendments:
2. In the Title:

The title has been changed to --PREDICTIVE MODEL MANAGEMENT USING A RE-ENTRANT PROCESS--

REASONS FOR ALLOWANCE

3. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

Claims 1-27 are considered allowable since when reading the claims in light of the specification, as per MPEP §2111.01, none of the references of record alone or in combination disclose or suggest the combination of limitations specified in independent claims, including an invention of a machine-based method comprising: in connection with a predictive model development project in which a user interacts with a computer application in a succession of steps to generate a predictive model based on historical data (defined at e.g. ¶ 0004).

Specifically, independent claim 1 discloses a system being modeled, the user's progress in developing the model having a state at each of the successive steps (defined at e.g. ¶ 0044); automatically storing structured project information that captures a state of the project at each of the successive steps in generating the model (defined at e.g. ¶ 0044); the successive steps of the project being re-entrant based on the stored structured project information (defined at e.g. ¶ 0055). Independent claims

Art Unit: 2129

11 and 20 restate the invention (defined at e.g. ¶ 0006) with a substantial difference in the scope of the method (MPEP 706.03(k) – confirms applicant's right to restate).

Examiner's search, especially over the IDS provided has confirmed that although a predictive model development with user interaction is well known in the art, the invention distinguishes itself because of the limitation stating -- successive steps of the project being re-entrant based on the stored structured project information.

A practical application of the invention is any targeted product marketing system that a company's customers would be likely to buy (defined at e.g. ¶ 0002).

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
